Spouse Employment

Today, more and more spouses seek the personal fulfillment of a full professional career. When this is coupled with the fact that many families need two incomes to maintain their quality of life, spouse employment and career development opportunities become crucial to recruitment and retention. The Air Force recognizes the changing nature of our society and is engaged in program planning to provide the best career opportunities for our military spouses. Airman & Family Readiness Center services have been developed to help meet the challenges spouses face in training for and finding suitable positions and, as they relocate, continuing and progressing in their chosen career fields.

Classes and individual consultation on career planning and personal development, resume writing, interviewing skills and other phases of the job search process.

Resource centers offer guided access to computers, laser printers, internet information on careers, jobs, and the development of job search skills, as well as local and long distance job listings in both public and private sectors.

Individual career counseling, planning, career assessments and interpretations are available by appointment at Airman & Family Readiness Centers.
